About Houlding Precision Firearms, Inc.: Todd and Stephanie Houlding, the owners of Houlding Precision Firearms (HPF), started their business because of a love of hunting and an appreciation of firearms. In 1887, Todd's family began farming in Madera and with farming comes an education in repairing and building farm machinery. This education and love of "the way things work" has taught Todd to try and improve what he uses and eventually led Todd to improving and manufacturing firearms. Using a CNC (computerized numerical control) machine, Todd has designed his own line of custom AR-15 rifles and continues work on improving different aspects of many firearms. HPF can meet all firearm needs with their full stocked gun shop, custom rifles, handguns, shotguns, scopes, and flashlights, gunsmithing and CCW classes.
